

I think that the state law should be the one that the companies have to follow. If the state made a stronger law then the fed, maybe the fed should act and makes theirs better.